

The Madison International Trade Association (MITA) is comprised of over 200 international sales and marketing executives from some of South-central Wisconsin's shining star companies, plus the support service providers who help turn export opportunities into profitable sales. MITA provides a forum to discuss practical issues with peers who have faced and surmounted similar problems in the past. Members share travel tips, cultural insights, negotiating strategies, and sometimes even the names of potential customers or distributors. If international trade is of interest to you and your organization, we invite you to join MITA or attend an upcoming meeting to learn more about our organization.
