
SIMON HART, RSM UK

Simon Hart coordinates and leads on RSM UK's international support for middle-market businesses. He is our lead commentator on Brexit, global trade issues and the impact geo-political issues might have on the middle-market.

He is a business advisory Partner with experience across many sectors and services, and also provides national strategic leadership to our knowledge management and knowledge sharing function - working towards aligning the various advisory services RSM provides to the business requirements of our clients.

Simon was named as one of the ICAEW's top 40 Twitter accountancy influencers 2019 and 2020, and is a regular commentator for RSM International, the RSM global network, where he sits as a Board member of both RSM UK and our global network, RSM International.
